

FLOATING OTTERS TEMPLATE

DID YOU KNOW:

Otters are related to skunks, weasels, wolverines and badgers.

Sea otters have the thickest fur of any animal and it's waterproof! Otters don't have any blubber, so they rely on their thick fur to stay warm.

A group of sea otters is called a raft! To keep from drifting away from each other while they sleep, sea otters wrap themselves up in seaweed and attach them to each other to form a "raft".

Sea otters are one of the few animals in the world that use tools. They use rocks as hammers to open oysters for food.
